Background & Context

This policy outlines Herefordshire Wildlife Trusts commitment to Safeguarding Adults at Risk from abuse and neglect.

Safeguarding duties apply to an adult who:

- Has needs for care and support (whether or not the local authority is meeting any of those needs) and;
- Is experiencing, or is at risk of, abuse or neglect; and;
- As a result of those care and support needs is unable to protect themselves from either the risk of, or the experience of, abuse or neglect.

Purpose

The purpose of this policy and the associated procedure is to provide clarity to all staff, trustees and volunteers on Herefordshire Wildlife Trust’s approach to Safeguarding Adults at Risk.

Herefordshire Wildlife Trust is committed to the highest standards of charity governance for Safeguarding and this policy is the foundation of a universal approach across the movement that puts Safeguarding at the heart of Herefordshire Wildlife Trust's engagement with adults at risk.

Herefordshire Wildlife Trust has a duty of care to adults at risk, carers and/or families that take part in our activities. We endeavour to provide a safe, friendly and inclusive environment that celebrates all achievements. We will achieve this by ensuring that employees, volunteers and trustees comply with all legal, contractual and professional standards and responsibilities in their work with adults at risk – whether within a group situation or one to one.

This policy applies to all staff, volunteers and trustees working on behalf of Herefordshire Wildlife Trust. Where Herefordshire Wildlife Trust undertakes activities with third parties, staff shall have due regard to the Safeguarding policies of the third-party provider.

This policy will be reviewed annually or in line with key legislation updates or changes and will be promoted through induction, training and ongoing supervision and support.

Context

The Care Act 2014 (England and NI) Social Services and Well-Being 2014 (Wales), The Public Bodies Joint Working (Scotland) and Safeguarding Act 2018 (Isle of Man) all set out a clear legal framework for how local authorities and organisations such as charities should protect adults at risk from abuse or neglect.

This means protecting an adult’s right to live in safety, free from abuse and neglect. It is about people and organisations working together to prevent and stop both the risks and experience of abuse or neglect, while at the same time making sure that the adult’s wellbeing is promoted including, where appropriate, having regard to their views, wishes, feelings and beliefs in deciding on any action. This must recognise that adults sometimes have complex interpersonal relationships and may be ambivalent, unclear or unrealistic about their personal circumstances (Care Act Guidance 2014).

The Principles of Adult Safeguarding in England

England (Care Act 2014)

An adult at risk is an individual aged 18 years and over who:

(a) has needs for care and support (whether or not the local authority is meeting any of those needs) AND;

(b) is experiencing, or at risk of, abuse or neglect, AND;

as a result of those care and support needs is unable to protect themselves from either the risk of, or the experience of abuse or neglect.

The Act’s principles are:

- Empowerment - People being supported and encouraged to make their own decisions and informed consent.
- Prevention – It is better to take action before harm occurs.
- Proportionality – The least intrusive response appropriate to the risk presented.
- Protection – Support and representation for those in greatest need.
- Partnership – Local solutions through services working with their communities. Communities have a part to play in preventing, detecting and reporting neglect and abuse.
- Accountability – Accountability and transparency in delivering safeguarding.

Making Safeguarding Personal

Outlined in the Care Act, this is an approach to working with adults which supports a person-centred, outcome-focus to Safeguarding. In practice this means talking to the adult about what they want to happen and understanding their views, wishes, feelings and beliefs before any actions are decided. Working in this way helps to ensure the adult is happy with the outcome from a safeguarding enquiry. Upon contacting your local authority to raise a concern, it is likely you will be asked what the adult wants to happen as a result of the referral; so, it is important, where possible to have a conversation and understand the wishes and feelings of the adult.

The Wildlife Trusts Safeguarding Commitment

The Wildlife Trusts believe that everyone has a responsibility to Safeguard children, young people and adults at risk; as a movement we are committed to ensuring their safety and wellbeing is at the heart of our engagement with people.

We will:

- Not tolerate any form of abuse or neglect within The Wildlife Trusts
- Take all reasonable steps to protect children, young people and adults at risk who visit our sites, take part in our activities or engage with us online.
• Give equal priority to keeping all children, young people and adults at risk safe from harm, regardless of their age, disability, gender, race, beliefs, sex, or sexual orientation.
• Provide our staff, volunteers and trustees with the knowledge and tools to guide them in protecting children, young people and adults at risk from abuse and neglect.

We will achieve this by:

• Supporting staff and volunteers by establishing a clear policy and procedural framework, transparent reporting and by promoting a culture of learning throughout the movement
• Encouraging staff and volunteers to discuss any concerns immediately or as soon as practically possible with their line manager/supervisor or designated safeguarding lead
• Listening to and hearing the voice of children, young people and adults at risk and respecting their views
• Recruiting our staff and volunteers safely including references, disclosure and barring checks as appropriate
• Recording and storing information safely and in accordance with the UK General Data Protection Regulation
• Recognising the position of trust in which staff, trustees and volunteers are regularly placed and use our procedures and work with our local authorities to manage any allegations against them appropriately.
• Adhering to Online Safety guidelines to keep children, young people, adults at risk and staff safe when using any digital communications.
• Ensuring that we provide a safe physical environment for children, young people, adults at risk, staff and volunteers, by adhering to health and safety measures in accordance with the law and regulatory guidance.
• Working in partnership with the statutory agencies responsible for the Safeguarding of children, young people and adults at risk
• Ensuring that any third-party individual or organisation involved in delivering activities on behalf of The Wildlife Trusts has appropriate experience, qualifications and/or accreditation and insurance. If they are operating with any degree of autonomy, The Wildlife Trusts staff will assure themselves that safeguarding procedures are equivalent, and arrangements are adequate for the activity.

Recognising the signs of abuse and neglect

Signs and Indicators of Abuse and Neglect

An adult may confide in a staff member, volunteer or another participant that they are experiencing abuse inside or outside of our settings. Similarly, others may suspect that this is the case.

There are many signs and indicators that may suggest someone is being abused or neglected. There may be other explanations, but they should not be ignored. Here are some pointers to be aware of:

• Unexplained injuries or bruises.
• The adult has belongings or money going missing.
• The person might start missing sessions and you notice a change in their mood or loss of confidence.
• They may have lost weight or have an unkempt appearance.
• You might notice a distinct change in their behaviour towards other people in their life e.g. an adult looking quiet when their son comes to collect them from a session in contrast to their support worker who they greet with a wave and a smile.
Abuse and neglect of adults at risk can happen anywhere – it could be an someone in their own home or a public place, whilst attending a day centre, in a college or whilst joining a work party. In our everyday engagement with adults at risk, it’s important to know the signs of abuse and neglect so if staff or volunteers witness an incident or are told/notice something about an adults’ circumstances that causes a concern, we can refer to the people who can help keep them safe.

The person causing the harm may be a stranger, but it’s more likely to be someone known to the adult such as a health or care professional, family member, neighbour or member of staff. The abuser is usually someone in a position of trust or power to the individual.

It is important to consider the signs of abuse and neglect for adults at risk engaging with Herefordshire Wildlife in two contexts –

- experiencing possible abuse or neglect in their home or care environment
- experiencing possible abuse or neglect whereby undertaking activities organized by Herefordshire Wildlife Trust or by staff members or volunteers.

Duty to refer

The Charity Commission are very clear that as an organization working with adults at risk we have a responsibility to recognise and refer any concerns or disclosures of abuse and neglect, as well as put in place the correct supportive frameworks and recruitment processes to enable this.

The main pieces of legislation governing Safeguarding Adults at Risk is the Care Act 2014 (England and NI) Social Services and Well-Being 2014 (Wales), The Public Bodies Joint Working (Scotland) and The Safeguarding Act 2018 (Isle of Man) which set out clear legal frameworks for how local authorities and organisations such as charities should protect adults at risk from abuse or neglect. This includes the duty for all to refer incidents of concern.

Where a local authority believes an adult at risk is experiencing or at risk from abuse or neglect, it must make enquiries or cause others better placed to do so, such as Police or health professionals. Those professionals leading the enquiry may contact any organisation working with them, such as Herefordshire Wildlife Trust, for information to help build a full picture of their life and to ascertain if any further concerns have been raised or noted.

Under the acts, local authorities have Safeguarding duties that have been created to protect adults at risk and any person or organisation such as Herefordshire Wildlife Trust must cooperate with enquiries and provide information when requested.

An enquiry overseen by the local authority must establish whether any action needs to be taken to prevent or stop the abuse and neglect and most importantly, ascertain the adult’s views and wishes.

As well as a duty to refer any concerns about individuals, we also have a duty to act upon and escalate any concerns regarding the conduct of staff or trustees working with adults at risk. If your concerns relate to a member of the Safeguarding leads, or how a Safeguarding incident is being managed, please consult the Trust’s Whistleblowing Policy or the Human resources Team.

Please see the Safeguarding Procedure for further information about making referrals.

Persons in a Position of Trust (PiPoT)

Herefordshire Wildlife Trust has a responsibility to respond to allegations or concerns raised about a person, whether an employee, volunteer or student (paid or unpaid) who works with adults with care and support needs as part of their role. These individuals are known as People in a Position of Trust (PiPoT).

If a PiPoT is alleged to have abused or harmed an adult with care and support needs, or who may pose a risk of abuse to an adult with care and support needs, it is essential that the concerns are appropriately reported to the Trust’s Designated Safeguarding Lead who in turn may need to notify their Local Authority. Examples of concerns could include allegations that relate to a person who works with adults with care and support needs who has:

- Behaved in a way that has harmed, or may have harmed an adult or child
- Committed a criminal offence against, or related to, an adult or child
- Behaved towards an adult or child in a way that indicates they may pose a risk of harm to adults with care and support needs

Concerns could also arise from the person’s home or personal life, as well as within their work. Where concerns relate to personal/private life, if the Trust is the employing organisation, they would maintain the responsibility for oversight of a case. This may include situations such as:
• A person has behaved (or is alleged to have behaved) towards another adult in a way that indicates they may pose a risk of harm to adults with care and support. For example, this may include situations where a person is being investigated by the police for domestic abuse to a partner and undertakes voluntary work with adults with care and support needs.

• A person has behaved (or is alleged to have behaved) towards children in a way that indicates that they may pose a risk of harm to adults with care and support need. For example, this may include situations where a person is alleged to have abused a child and is a student undertaking professional training to work with adults with care and support needs.

• A person is the subject of a formal safeguarding enquiry into allegations of abuse or neglect which have occurred in one setting. However, there are also concerns that the person is employed, volunteers or is a student in another setting where there are adults with care and support needs who may also be at risk of harm.

Any allegations must be investigated promptly in line with the Trusts internal allegations management process. Unless it puts the adult at risk or a child in danger, the person should be informed an allegation against them.

If the person is employed, volunteers or is a student (paid or unpaid) in another local authority area, inform the relevant local authority area. If there is a concern the individual may also pose a risk to children, the Trust should inform the relevant Local Area Designated Officer (LADO).

Alongside the duty of care towards the adult at risk, is the duty of care to the staff member/volunteer/trustee who the allegation has been made against. The Trust must ensure they provide support to minimise stress associated with the process, for example; support to understand the procedures being followed, regular updates on developments as well as the opportunity to respond to allegations/concerns and support to raise questions or concerns about the allegation.

Supporting adults with mental health difficulties

Mental health is fluid and can change day to day, week to week and year to year. Many people with mental health problems do not receive support services and when ‘well’ would consider themselves able to take care of themselves independently. This means if we have concerns about individuals experiencing mental health difficulties, they may not be eligible for a safeguarding adult’s referral, and we need to be aware of other pathways for support. These may include encouraging them to talk to their GP, local support services in your area, attending A&E in an emergency or accessing support through MIND or Samaritans.

Herefordshire Wildlife Trust have a sign posting document with local referral details for people experiencing poor mental health. Staff also attend mental health first aid training in the first 12 months of their employment.

Serious Incidents and Charity Regulators

A serious incident amounts to a situation whereby harm has occurred to RSWT beneficiaries, staff, volunteers, or others who encounter RSWT through our work.
In England and Wales the Charity commission requires charities to report serious incidents. The responsibility for this lies with the Trustees, however operationally this is delegated to the Chief Executive Officer and the Compliance Manager and Safeguarding Lead must also be notified before any incident is reported.

In all circumstances RSWT must be notified of any member of staff, trustee or Wildlife Trust reporting a serious incident to a charity regulator.
